

This Week's Most Important News

Mary Jane and Jamie were in a car accident last Thursday, March 11. Jamie was only shaken up, but Mary Jane's leg was broken in two places. After a night in the hospital, she's now at home, waiting to get a hard cast on Monday. She's eager to get back to work. In the meantime, her classes are being covered by other teachers, and some Geography students (Clare H and Heather) were even spotted in the library working on their research papers.

Are you interested in meeting other parents, talking about Kino, finding out more about the school and ways you can be more involved? Laura Berry is hosting a get together for all those reasons next Tuesday evening at 7 pm. Everyone is welcome to come.

Darcie Deaville - "Fiery Fiddler" Next Friday-Everyone's Invited!

"Get her to play 'Ducks on the Pond' and 'Red River Jig.' If your toes ain't tappin', you're dead." - Phoenix Gazette

We're enjoying another amazing concert next week — on Friday, March 26, at 12:30. Darcie Deaville is a singer, songwriter, and multi-instrumentalist who gets outstanding reviews for her musicianship and performances. She's worked with an interesting range of other musicians that includes Ani di Franco and The Austin Lounge Lizards as well as Nancy's group The Mollys.

Like this week's St. Patrick's Day Concert by Nancy and Catherine Zavala, we are inviting everyone to come join us. We'll be unobtrusively asking for donations that will help support the music and recording program at Kino.

The series of concerts that Nancy has arranged this spring has been enriching, rewarding, and lots of fun. Thank you!

When she's not taking Kino students to Casa Maria on Wednesday mornings, Becky Duncan paints. There is a show of her acrylics and watercolors-- called Desert Giants -- through March 30, in the Murphy Gallery at St. Phillip's in the Hills Episcopal Church, 4440 N. Campbell

The permission slip for the boys' junior high retreat said "bring duct tape." They spent the day making an array of forts. You could say they were learning cooperation, design, creative brainstorming, problem solving, teamwork, and following through to a successful end. Plus they got wet and muddy. What more could you ask from a day?

Graduate Ernest Espinoza, Class of 2002, was here on Monday demonstrating the forging skills he's honed since learning the basics in the Kino shop. The forge was up and running again on Tuesday.

The school was rocking on Wednesday, at the St. Patrick's concert by Nancy and Catherine Zavala. It was great seeing so many parents there!

The Spring Yard Sale Closer and Closer!

The Spring Yard Sale will be April 3. Please mark it on your calendars and start getting together your piles of donations.

We can use lots of help:

The week before the sale, we'll need people who can help sort stuff as it comes in.

We'll need lots of help on the day itself, of course.

And we'll be having a bake sale along with the yard sale, so we hope all you good cooks will plan to contribute something!

At the Tortilla Factory:

Paddy: "Me gusta las tortillas. Comí 2 o 3."

Taylor ate the masa (dough) without cooking.

Emmi likes the tortillas the best. "I did not like the cochi (piggy), only the rainbow cookie.

Paige: They put the tortillas in el horno. It looked like drawers. I saw how they make cochitos."

Lila: "I like the gallitas best."

Emma: I like only the cookies.

Dylan likes the tortillas.

Serena likes eating the yummy cookies.

Peter: "I love the Tortilla Factory because it makes warm tortillas."
